Dawgs shouldn't miss a beat under new head coach

By John Erzar

jerzar@timesleader.com

Stability was once a staple of the Berwick head coaching

From 1971-2005, George Curry ran the show. Since then, the job has changed hands four times, including a return of Curry from 2013-

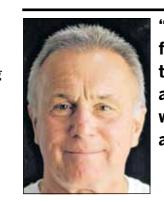

The newest guy is Carmen DeFrancesco, a veteran with a proven track record at several schools mainly in District 4.

The 66-year-old hasn't been a head coach since 2014 when his gig at Mount Carmel ended, but has stayed active as an assistant at other schools where his former players are coaches.

ON OFFENSE

Francesco said that he'd like the offense to run the ball about 70 percent of the time. While that might seem a lot, the Dawgs ran the ball at a 79-percent clip in 2018.

Berwick lost 1,200-yard rusher Owen Shoemaker to graduation, but there are several guys ready to take the reigns. Sophomore Aiden

When the Dawgs want to utilize a bigger backfield then either Eric Montross or Mason Laubach will be inserted.

Ryan Laubach will be the quarterback. He had a handful of starts late last season, but didn't throw much. He hit on 14-of-23 passes for 175 yards and a pair of TDs.

Teagan Wilk leads the receiving corps after catching 23 passes for 224 vards and two touchdowns. A perennial all-state player, Wilk will play at East Carolina next fall and is also a dangerous kick returner. Shawn Sheptock got a late jump on last season, but showed a burst to get past the secondary. He was third in the 100-meter and second in the 200-meter dashes at the District 2 Class 2A track meet. Senior Antonio Baratta also figures to get playing time.

"We have the ability to stretch the field. I mean, really stretch the field," DeFrancesco

The tight end spot is in good shape with veterans Blaine Cleav er and Dallas Schechterly back.

The line will be Jake Lanning and Sullivan Slabinski at tackles. Noah Craig and Aaron Cashman at guards and Nick Heimbach at center. Mike Zalutko and Jordan Young will also see action.

ON DEFENSE

Berwick's base defense will be a four-man front, but the Dawgs will switch out of that based on the situation.

"It's a quick, athletic group," DeFrancesco said. "We're going to show multiple fronts and we're a one-gap team. We're going to loop right and left with our guys because we feel we have to take advantage of our quickness."

Wilk returns at free safety after picking off seven passes in 2018. He'll likely end up on this side of the ball at East Carolina. Strong safety Cleaver nabbed an interception last year. There is plenty of speed at the corners with Sheptock, Baratta and Preston Robbins. The weak safety will be either Ryan Laubach or Peyton Williams.

Berwick was tough to run against last season and should be once again. Veterans Montes and Mason Laubach will hold down the defensive end spots. Slabinski and Anthony Sisco will be the tackles, with Lopez and Brian Knorr rotating in.

Schechertly and Zalutko anchor the linebacking group.

OUTLOOK

Berwick last won a District 2 championship in 2013. Since then it's been four championship game losses followed by a semifinal ouster in 2018.

The Dawgs will once again be a player for the D2-4A title, but can't have the offense falter in the postseason like in recent years.

"We have to continue to build the culture that we tried to set in front of the kids in December.

New coach wants changes on and off the field

changing our culture."

By John Erzar ierzar@timesleader.com

New Crestwood coach Ryan Arcangeli spent 10 years as an assistant at the school. So while the transition for him and the players should go smoothly, things are going to change.

"We have to continue to build the culture that we tried to set in front of the kids in December," Arcangeli said. "We gave the kids three seeds, an easy plan. Commitment to weightroom and classroom, a commitment to community and a commitment to changing our culture.

"If we can hit those three things — and we've done a great job since December we're going to build ourselves up for success."

The Comets won just two games last season, their worst campaign since a two-win season in 2008. They haven't posted a winning record since 2014 when the program finished off a fourth season of well above .500.

"We have guys on our football team that did not play last year," Arcangeli said. "That's

'Hev. there's going to be a change." One change is the coaching staff, as Arcangeli has added many new assistants.

ON OFFENSE

The unit really struggled to produce points last season as the Comets scored 14 or fewer points in five games. However, it's going to be retooled.

The rushing attack had problems and Crestwood will use a running back by committee in hopes of better results. Logan Arnold, Jimmy Hawley, Ryan Harding, Ryan Miller and Rob Spaide will all get rushing attempts. Miller had the best stats last season with 121 of the quintet's 147 yards.

Dallas has been building for the 2019 season since the current senior class first arrived on the varsity roster.

Joshua Balara, Taylor Bolesta, Lenny Kelley, Matt Maransky, Dylan Schuster and Michael Starbuck are all entering their fourth seasons as starters for the Mountaineers. Classmate Luke DelGaudio is in his third season as a starter.

Dallas coach Rich Mannello said his players are well aware that there remains work to be done to make the most of the opportunities the team has after going from 2-9 as freshmen to 7-4 as sophomores to 11-2 as juniors. During that time the Mountaineers also went from the last qualifier to the District 2 Class 4A playoffs to a team that earned a home field to a team that reached the title game.

final, but lost by 33 and 35 points to district champion Valley View.

"We talked from when we got off the bus after the playoff game from taking a beating up there that we had to manage the expectation and continue to follow the process that these kids grew up on," Mannello said. "Since ninth grade, they bought into this process. Nothing changes. "It doesn't matter how many kids you have back. There's still a process that you have to go through every day, every month. It changes a little as you go through the course of the offseason, but it's still the process and that's what allows you to have a chance."

ON OFFENSE

Developing depth in the offensive line, the position group that Mannello coaches along with his duties running the program, is the coach's top priority.

Because so many of the key players are two-

Hanover Area made the District 2 Class 3A playoffs last season thanks to a bloated postseason field.

The Hawkeyes certainly didn't perform like a playoff team. They won just three games, snapping a 17-game losing streak in the process. They are 9-31 over the last four seasons, including a winless 2017.

Now it's up to new coach Rick Hummer, a former Hanover Area player and assistant coach, to lift the fortunes. If the surname sounds familiar it's because Hummer's twin brother Ron was Hanover Area's head coach from 2006-

"They were in a bad place for the last four years," Hummer said. "Hopefully, we can get them out of that. My major goal is week by week, these kids get better. Hazleton Area is going to be a different team this season.

Part out of necessity. Part out of need.

Graduation gutted an extremely talented offense, so the Cougars are going to have to do things differently to generate points.

"You'll be seeing a lot more misdirection, doing a lot of different things," Hazleton Area coach Mike Brennan said. "We have to be. You're not going to see us line up with some big linemen and run it."

Without an explosive offense, the defense can't play like last season when the unit held just three opponents under 20 points and surrendered 35 or more six times.

"Offense wasn't a big prob lem last year, we know that. We scored 35 points a game, Brennan said. "Defense was a serious issue, so we made some changes there personnelwise and we think we can make an improvement there.

New coach hopes to change Royals' fortunes

By Dave Rosengrant For Times Leader

Just a few weeks ago, Tyson Kelley thought he was going to be assistant coach for the Holy Redeemer football team for the first time in four years.

Then, things changed. Dras-

Dwavne Downing stepped down due to a new full-time iob and handed over the reigns to Kelley, who now starts his first season as head coach.

"It all happened so fast. Everything happened in about a week," Kelley said. "Coach Downing approached me and said he had an opportunity for another job. And he talked to Williams me about it and talked about exploring our options. It worked out to where we both kind of reversed roles where he can help out when needed due to his job.

"It's been pretty crazy. I'm just getting used to everything. Getting used to the guys. Developing a relationship with everyone has been the focal point. It certainly has been a challenge, but it's been a

A trio of seniors will be leaned on to run the offense. Quarterback Colin Conway returns as a starter. Brian Williams will serve as running back and receiver. Jack Daoud is set to be the main receiving target once again.

The Royals finished winless last season and haven't picked up a win since the last week of the 2017 campaign.

This season might start off a little bit trying due to the transition. However, there is plenty of optimism to go around and if the Royals can continue to grow throughout the season. there's no reason why multiple victories can't be attained.

The line also has to be rebuilt, with left tackle Jason Biever the only full-time returning starter. Left guard Richie Santos started four games last season. Leo Kelly will be the center. Matt Minzola will be the other tackle and the other guard will be either Seth Hunsinger or James Bugda.

ON DEFENSE

Hazleton Area scored 63 points against Williamsport and 31 against Delaware Valley. Yet, the Cougars lost both games because the defense had trouble stopping just about every opponent.

The defense had problems vs. the pass as it recorded just 10 sacks and six interceptions.

Lake-Lehman diversifying plan of attack

Lake-Lehman has found plenty of success over the past nine years under coach Jerry Gilsky, yet he believes it's time to change up some things.

"When you look at what we ran every year, it limited what we had," Gilsky said. "When we look at this team, there is a lot of skill set on this team and we had to distribute the ball a little more. It's our 10th year and we reflected on what we have and we said we have to distribute the ball a little bit better."

There is certainly enough talent to do so. The Black Knights have one of the top skill-position groups in the Wyoming Valley Conference Division 3A-A. Wyoming Area is the only team in the division that could rival them.

So the plan is to get plenty of hands on the football and see what happens.

NANTICOKE AREA TROJANS

'We have a good nucleus of guys back from last year.," the coach said. "We lost 12 starters, some of success and the guys who have been around know them started both sides of the ball, but we had some

Trojans prepared to take the next step what it takes to be successful."

By Dave Rosengrant

For Times Leader

Three straight years Nanticoke Area has finished the regular season with a record of 5-5 and followed that with a postseason game.

Under Ron Bruza, who begins his 10th season at the helm, the Trojans culture has changed from a team that was perennially near the bottom of the standings to one that is now expected to make a run to the playoffs every year.

"There's been a lot of changes. The ethics at Nanticoke are changing," Bruza said. "They're still great kids. They come to work. They're blue collar guys.

Now, it's time for the Trojans to take the next step and turn the .500 record in the regular season into a winning record.

The program lost a total of 12 starters from last season, but Bruza said there's still plenty of talent on the roster that can pick up right where the team left off.

"We have a good nucleus of guys back from last year.,"

One last hurrah.

"I understand it's going to be the last time." Northwest two-way tackle Brendan Dixon said. "I'm looking to make our mark, to try and really make people remember the Rangers.'

Northwest

The biggest chore is finding someone to take snaps from Wessler.

Sophomore Ryan Wassel and freshman Carter Hontz are fighting for the job and both are about the same size. For what it's worth, Wassel threw an 80-yard touchdown last year, but it was his only completion and he had just one more attempt. So there's really no edge in experience between them.

Both could see playing time this season, given Wassel's ability to trot out to the receiver spot. He was Northwest's thirdleading receiver last year.

More likely, the Rangers will turn to a solid ground game led by last year's team-leading rusher George May and impressive freshman Landon Hufford. They'll feature plenty of two tight end sets, with sophomores John Savakinus and Chase Biller both skilled in blocking and pass catching.

ON DEFENSE

Again, it all starts up front for Northwest.

Experienced linemen Wilson, Miller, Dixon, Wessler and May plan to keep opposing offenses under control

They may have to, considering the inexperience behind them. With the departure of standout linebacker Tyler Stevens, believed to be Northwest's career tackling leader, the Rangers are stacked with plenty of potential but from a sea of youth. Savakinus and Biller are the veterans of the linebacking corps, and they'll be flanked by freshmen Hufford and Jake Bobersky. In the defensive backfield are returning starting safeties Wassel and senior JT Brubaker, along with senior Mike Crawford. But freshmen Chase Burke, Hontz and Hunter Gmiter will be counted on to make plays.

"I coach the linebackers on defense," Hazlet said. "I met with my kids after practice and I had six linebackers and they were three freshmen and three sophomores. Don't even have a junior in the group."

OUTLOOK

Don't look now, but the Rangers appear ready to get back on a roll.

If some young kids can develop quickly, Northwest may have a chance to make its goodbye season in the WVC a pretty good one.

will also be part of the

"We're going to more of a spread scheme," Gilsky said.

Wyatt Lopaski will be the center, Blaise Napierkowski and Damian Concklin will be the guards and Logan Hoyt and Justin James will be the tackles.

Lopaski and Hoyt are returning starters. James, though, might be one of the more intriguing players in the WVC. The first-year player is 6-foot-3 and 315 pounds and has shown tremendous strength in the weightroom, Gilskey added that Jones is athletic for his size.

"You look at the kids that are there," Gilsky said. "We're bigger than last year and we're stronger than last year."

ON DEFENSE

The Black Knights return six starters to a defense which forced a turnover in every regular- OUTLOOK season game.

Kaminski is back at cornerback, where he picked off six passes. Spencer will man the other corner spot. Matt Galasso, who picked off a pass in 2018, is back. Giovanni Ferrari and Marshall Woodrosky will also work in the second-

Danny Kutz will slide from outside linebacker to inside where he will be joined by fellow returning starter Scott Robbins. Eiden and Josiah Thomas will also be linebackers.

Hoyt, James, Conck-

lin and Sabaluski will flip sides of the line to anchor the front wall. Chase Cole will rotate in.

"Defense concerns me," Gilsky said, "but we have the size up front."

The District 2 Class 3A playoff field will shrink from eight teams in 2018 to six this year, but the Black Knights should easily make the postseason. The key is grabbing one of the topfour spots, which will lock up a home playoff game. They could be a contender for the district crown if a few things fall into place.

Lehman will be tested right out of the gates with a road game at Western Wayne and a home contest vs. Lakeland, two teams they lost to last season.

Zack Pelton joins Bobeck at linebacker, while Chris Shon anchors the

"Our inside linebackers are back so we realistically lost three good guys on defense," Bruza said. "But I think we're going to be able to replace them with some guys who played a little bit last year and stepped up in the offseason."

The Trojans certainly have the leadership with 14 seniors, and the talent and experience to take the team to the next level this year and beyond.

Playing up at Class 4A for the second straight season will also help the team remain familiar with opponents.

"You hope your senior leaders step up and know what it takes. The expectations are laid out (to continue the success)," Bruza added. "A lot of these guys have been with me for six years, coming up from junior high so you know we definitely have a program at Greater Nanticoke Area, not just guys here, guys there. They know what the expectations are so I think that's what you really build off."

If the Trojans can get off to a hot start and build momentum, they could be headed for a winning regular Pittston Area will mix expe rienced backs, linebackers and receivers with many new faces in the line as it seeks a third straight District 2 Class 4A playoff appearance.

The Patriots have improved to 10 wins over the first two seasons under Nick Barbieri after winning just twice total in the two seasons prior to his hiring.

To keep that momentum going, the Patriots will be looking to build a front line that allows them to get the most out of returning their top passer, rusher and scorer.

"Only having one returning starter on the offensive line is a concern, but I like the way these kids are working," Barbieri said. "Teagan Reboli is a iunior who put on probably 20 pounds from last year.

"Adrian Colon is a kid who iust started playing football two years ago and is really starting to learn the game now."

Reboli is the team's center.

Colon has some experience at guard where Hugh Bentham, a senior, is back after making some starts last season.

Senior John Galonis is expected to join Yanchis as the tackles.

The tight end is new – to the position – but has experience on the field.

Alex Anastasi, who started at quarterback for Old Forge earlier in his high school career and ran the offense in Pittston Area's playoff game last season, will move to tight end for his senior year. He took over for Nocito at times last season, particularly in situations where Barbieri was looking for more running from the quarterback spot.

"Alex is doing a real good job," Patriots coach Nick Barbieri said. "He'll be on the field a lot more there.'

That leaves the quarterback position in Nocito's hands with P.J. Pisano providing depth.

Nocito was one of the Wyoming Valley Conference's

Tigers ready to continue upward swing

For Times Leader

In his first year as head coach at Tunkhannock, Mike Marabell got a late start with the team because he was leading a Tunkhannock Area team to the Little League Softball World Series.

Still, he helped the Tigers football team have their most productive season in eight

That was just the start of what he hopes can be unlimited potential for the team as he begins his second season at the helm with a full year under his belt.

"We try to stay positive. It's a long road ahead," said Marabell, whose team finished with three wins a year ago. "We haven't won many games in several years so it's a mentality thing. It's a community thing. Everybody's got to buy into it to change it.

Williamsport came into the 2018 season with high expecta-

The Millionaires exited a batter bunch as injuries piled up and led to an unexpected 5-6

Running back Treyson Potts, a Division I recruit, played barely over four games before a knee injury sidelined him for the season. He had missed his entire junior season as well with a knee injury. Quarterback Joe Fagnano and two-time All-WVC receiver Marcus Simmons had their seasons conk out after eight games due to injuries.

The trio was part of a very talent class that produced two Division I players in Potts (Minnesota) and Fagnano (Maine) and a Division II player in Simmons (West Chester).

Fifth-vear coach Coach Chuck Crews faces perhaps his biggest challenge since his inagural season when he inherited a 2-8

"We could surprise some people," Crews said, "We are not team has more overall athletic talent than last vear's, but doesn't have those elite athletes like Potts, Fagnano and Simmons.

ON OFFENSE

If there was any consolation in Fagnano getting hurt it was freshman Dallas Griess getting to start a few games. He'll be behind center once again. Griess completed 15-of-27 passes for 169 vards and two touchdowns with three interceptions. He also ran for 117 yards and three scores.

Potts' consecutive knee injuries robbed Wyoming Valley Conference fans the chance of seeing one of the most dynamic breakaway threats in conference history. He missed Week 2 and went down Week 6 after two carries vs. Scranton. Yet, he led the team in rushing. Also graduated is his understudy Blaze McClements, who was the team's third-leading rusher.

Two likely candidates for the running chores are senior Drake Mankey and sophomore Keith Freeman. Mankey rushed for 72 yards on 10 carries last season. Freeman rushed 12 times for 35 vards. Tight end Nasir Jones had a breakout season with 23 catches — a number that led all WVC tight ends — for 276 yards. Brock Moyer and Braedon Mazzante made some catches last season as wide receiver, although Mazzante has been injured. Moyer had 11 for 136 yards, while Mazzante had six for 70 yards.

WILLIAMSPORT MILLIONAIRES

Williamsport has some rebuilding to do

Beau Smith is the most experienced lineman on the roster. Ethan Williamson started the season opener, but suffered a season-ending injury early in the game.

ON DEFENSE

The defense was a sore spot once again last season as it surrendered 33 or more points in eight of 11 games, including 63 to Hazleton Area. Oddly, Williamsport defeated Hazleton Area 64-63, demonstrating how powerful the offense was went everyone was on the field.

The secondary will likely feature Freeman, Griess and Mover. Freeman was second on the team with 57 tackles. Griess and Mover each intercepted two passes.

Jones returns to the defensive line where he registered 52 tackles, a team-high seven sacks and a team-leading 19 tackles for loss a year ago. Ian Welshans is also back on the line after a solid junior year.

Mankey was one of the team's top tacklers from his linebacker spot in 2018. Linbacker Akyeem Cowen-Connolly saw action in nine games.

OUTLOOK

Williamsport can't dwell on what could have been. The Millionaires have too much work to do to secure a spot in the District 2/4 Class 6A playoffs. If things fall into place, they could be playing come Week 11.

Still, this is a very young team with limited experience. "It's not all bad," Crews said, "if they have a switch somewhere and can flip it."

Expectations are high for Warriors

For Times Leader

Wyoming Area returns its leaders, but also many of the other contributors that helped the team win its first 11 games last season before falling in the District 2 Class 3A semifinals.

With all the experience coming back, the Warriors will look to both repeat their regular-season success and try to add to the postseason accomplishments.

"Performing at that high level was something we were able to do in so many games last season," Warriors coach Randy Spencer said. "Now, it's a matter of doing it in the big games."

Wyoming Area will pursue that goal with the team's 2018 leaders in rushing, passing, receiving, scoring, interceptions and return yards.

Dominic DeLuca led in passing and interceptions. Corey Mruk led in rushing and scoring. Brian Williams was the top receiver and Leo Haros the top return man.

The extra tailbacks and backup quarterback Jacob Williams will also help supplement the receiving corps.

Brian Williams is back at one wide receiver with Riley Rusyn working at the other spot. Rocco Pizano and Adam Zymund could also be part of that rotation.

Elko, Samuel Solomon, Dillon Williams, F.J. Braccini and Colby Gashi all got some work at fullback last season.

Derek Ambrosino is back at tight end where Caleb Graham also has experience.

There will be some new faces in the offensive line.

Bryce Hinkle returns at center. Dante Bovani, Nasir Condry and Shawn Kostak are likely starters at guards and tackles with Tom Wycoski, Jayden Rusyn, Vincent Bowers and Ryan Gilpin among the other candidates.

The Warriors did graduate one statistical leader – Cameron Carr, an end who led the team in tackles and tackles for losses.

Zacharias is expected to line up on the end of the defensive line, while D'Amato will be in the middle at linebacker to pace the defense. Senior Alex Dailey will also man the line, with Alec Seboe ioining the linebacking crew next to D'Amato. Junior Riley Jones will be counted on to lead the secondary.

Outside of the men up front, there isn't much size on the unit, so Marabell will be counting on the athleticism of the group to make the big

"We're not huge. We're going to be more athletic. I have kids who are going to be physical," the coach said. "I don't have big kids, but I have athletic kids that fly to the football.

"We didn't have that last year. We struggled on defense last year. I have kids who are just flying around wanting to hit something, which is great."

Tunkhannock have potential to break into the win column more often this season by creeping towards the .500 mark, but the future looks bright as well as only about a half dozen seniors will see significant playing time.

"We have a lot of sophomores and iuniors starting and two freshmen that are going to be playing an awful lot,' Marabell said. "So this year, we're going to get better and learn how to win. opponents last season, with the closest of the 11 wins coming 29-7 over Lake-Lehman. A beefedup schedule could benefit a team that scored 35 or more points 10 times.

Wyoming Area has added District 2 Class 3A and 2A champions Scranton Prep and Dunmore.

"Those types of games are going to better prepare us for what we are going to see in the postseason," Spencer said.

Unless the offensive line becomes an issue, there was not much else missing from the equation for a team that for the second straight year enters the season surrounded by high expectations.

WYOMING VALLEY WEST SPARTANS

Spartans under new leadership

Jack Baranski expected to be an assistant coach this season. Everything changed in June.

Long-time head coach Pat Keating was reassigned from the high school to an elementary school, making a return to the sidelines unfeasible.

Baranski, who had been an assistant since 2000, was asked to take over the pro-

"What made it easy was the amount of continuity we keep on the staff," Baranski said. "It's documented that coach Keating is gone, but the entire rest of the staff is here.

"What also made this transition easier is the amount of senior leadership in this weightroom."

Now the goal is to get the Spartans back into the district playoffs after missing it for the first time in five years. The program hasn't had a losing record since going 1-8-1 in 1994, but last year's 5-5 finish certainly wasn't pleasant.

"What made it easy was the amount of continuity we keep on the staff. It's documented that coach Keating is gone, but the entire rest of the staff is here. What also made this transition easier is the amount of senior leadership in this weightroom."

ON OFFENSE

Unlike the past, the Spartans probably won't have a 1.000-vard rusher this season. That's by design.

"I see us sharing the ball at the running back position," Baranski said. "We don't have a bellcow or a Sean Judge who would touch the ball 25 times. These guys are going to split carries and they all have their strengths."

Those guys are Darius Redguard, Zack McDaniels and Brendan Woods. Redguard rushed 46 times for 283 yards and four TDs last season. McDaniels gained 112 yards while Woods had three carries. McDaniels and

Woods, though, are threeyear starters who made their names on the other side of the Dontae Rhodes will be the new quarterback. Although he threw just one pass last season, he saw action as a receiver so the varsity experience is there. So is some top-notch athleticism, which Baranski believes will make him a dual threat.

Rhodes will be throwing to a pair of veteran receivers in Nah-Syr Garner and Dvlan Nastanski. Garner led the team with 31 receptions for 305 vards and two TDs. Nastanski grabbed 19 passes for 271 yards and three scores.

Jerimiah Williams, Tyler Weidman, Connor Olisewski and Coughlin transfer Salem Diop will also see action. The tight ends will be Jonathan Stochla and Jordan Evans.

The Spartans are set at three positions on the line. Brandon Tirado is back at center. Don Messersmith and Nate Mooney return as tackles. Tirado and Messersmith are both 300 pounders, while Mooney is 270. The three candidates in camp for the two guard spots were Noah Anderscavage, Mark Raskiewicz and Aiden Golightly.

ON DEFENSE

A bulk of the defense returns.

The secondary is a strength with cornerbacks Garner and Williams and safety Nastanski all returning starters. Garner had five interceptions last season. Dominic Barofski and Josh Kennedy will also see time there.

Woods and McDaniels are back as linebackers. Woods made 100 stops and picked off two passes last season as an inside backer. McDaniels had 52 tackles and an interception on the outside.

Other inside linebacking candidates are Anderscavage, Josh Koval, Aziz Martin and freshman

Landon Dietterick. "When you look at that position, Brendan Woods has been a starter for years," Baranski said. "I'm trying to find the other guy. It could be situational. ... It could be a rotation there until somebody says, 'This is my spot."

The competition for the other outside linebacker spot was between Redguard, Jonathan Chell and Zack Tomas-Stochla had a strong sophomore year at defensive end with 82 tackles and a team-high 16 tackles for loss. Evans will man the other end spot. There is plenty of depth at D-tackle with Tirado, Messersmith and Mooney joined by Ja'Mir Murphy and Elijah Kropp, Ideally, Baranski said. Murphy and Kropp develop enough to keep the other three fresh for offense.

Championship

After starting the 2018 season 3-0, Vallev West managed just two more wins — one against winless Coughlin and another against an injury-ravaged Williamsport squad. The 5-5 record left the Spartans sitting home Week 11 for the first time since 2005 as they declined a spot in the Eastern Conference playoffs.

If the defense can hold the fort early on until the offense clicks, then the Spartans could find a spot in the District 2/11 Class 5A playoffs. Consecutive games Week 4 at Berwick and Week 5 against Dallas will tell how far the team has progressed in the early
